

Hobs & Snobs

First Edition, 2016. Clare Valley, South Australia. Published by RedHeads Wine, in association with Direct Wines Production

CLASH OF THE CLASSES

On one side the wealthy nobles of the land - The Nobs - and on the other were the sans noblesse - then called The Snobs - those lacking the good fortune to be born into privilege.

They fought over the highly prized, stream of copper ore that was discovered in nearby Burra.

The government put the mining rights up for tender - for the sum of £20,000. Whispers spread, such was the furore that this news made it all the way to the east coast.

The locals feared their prize being stolen from under their noses so, (reluctantly) our local aristocrats and shopkeepers combined resources in order to cover the full cost.

With the land secured, both sides ended their temporary, uncomfortable, coalition. Battle lines were drawn in the split of their 20,000 acres of land.

But history tells us the little guys won out. It was the local tradesmen who achieved incredible wealth beyond their wildest dreams while the noblemen suffered a much more ignominious fate...

CLARE VALLEY: A Hidden Treasure

For over 150 years, the Clare Valley has been famed for its gorgeous scenery, rolling hills and some of the nation's finest vineyards.

The secret is the region's unique terroir - it's the perfect unison of geography, geology and climate - that result in

“Mighty” Mark Malbec vs “Noble” Nigel Cabernet

2 BIG HITTERS, 12 ROUNDS

strictly under the Marquis of Queensbury Rules

some of Australia's best fruit... that packs a real punch!

Its growers hold a sense of pride in their solitude from the neighbouring regions. Thus, they avoid the influences and fashion trends inherent in the politics and styles of some “others” in the area.

RICHARD HUGHES and his Mighty Fruits

Richard is the quintessential gent who takes great pride in his work. The great great grandson of former Australian Prime Minister Billy “Little Digger” Hughes and all-round nice bloke!

WANTED!

Dark purple hues with a cedary oak note, supported by a rich plum and blackberry note from the Malbec. A soft and structured tannin profile supports this great wine with lovely length on the palate.

Vintage: 2016

Blend: Malbec (61%), Cabernet (39%)

Aging: 12 months in matured French and American oak pH: 3.6 Total Acidity: 6.2 g/l

Residual Sugar: 0.6 g/l Alcohol: 14.5%

Cellar Potential: 8 years

Contact shout@redheadswine.com for further info.